BULLETIN 2

With this name is called this international event organized by the Orienteering Federation of the Valencian Community (hereinafter FEDOCV), the Club Colivenc and the City Council of Pinoso, under the protection of the International Orienteering Federation (IOF) and the Spanish Orienteering Federation (FEDO), The event will be held in Pinoso from 31 January to 2 February.

The geographical location of the map and the easy access from the arena to the town of Pinoso will make the two competitions a beautiful attraction.

We foresee more than 1,200 competitors from all parts of the national and international geography, between ages 12 and 70.

As a high-level organization, we have created a brochure where you will find all locations, indications and access routes to the competitions, as well as all accommodations and restaurants in the area.

Since the competition lasts several days, we encourage you to use all the commercial infrastructures in the area.

Orienteering currently has millions of participants worldwide. Multitude of nations are members of the I.O.F. Orienteering has been recognised as an ideal sport for everyone, a sport for young and less young, for women, for men, and for the whole family.

LOCATION

The town Pinoso is located in the region of Medio Vinalopó, 574 metres above sea level, and 56 km away from Alicante. Its economy is based on rainfed crops such as vine, almond and olive. It is also based on the shoe industry and the exploitation of the cream-ivory marble quarries of Monte Coto, declared a Natural Site for its high ecological, landscape and socio-cultural value; as well as the extraction of gem salt from the Cabezo de la Sal deposit.

The middle, long and Trail-O races will be held in "Cabezo de la Sal".

Cabezo de la Sal is one of the best examples in Spain and even Europe of classic Triassic diapirs constituted by gem salt, anhydrite, plaster and clays with an almost circular relief about four kilometers in diameter. The gem salt deposit (sodium chloride) is one of the most important in the country, whose brines are transported by the salmoreduct to the Torrevieja salt flats.

Diapires are intrusive structures formed by masses of salts and clays. These materials of low density and high plasticity are at great depth. The high pressure causes them to rise through the upper layers, passing through them and / or deforming them. The result is a mass of clays and salts, in the shape of a cylinder, mushroom or inverted drop, which may end up surfacing, as is the case.

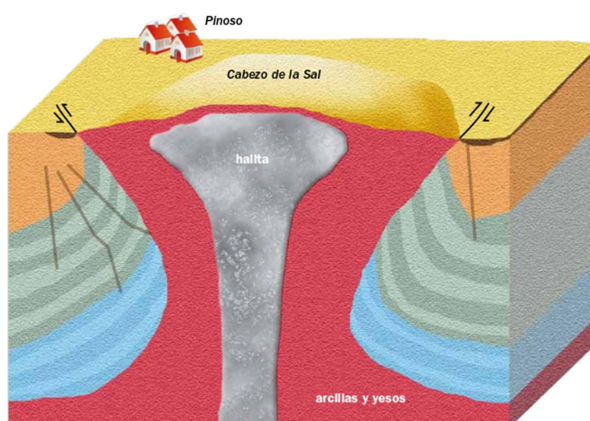

The Cerro de la Sal is a magnificent example of saline diapir, which emerges from the surface and develops in the form of a mushroom. In general, saline diapires are subjected to intense dissolution processes, since the salts are very soluble. Consequently, when they surface and dissolve, they usually end up generating negative reliefs, that is why it is very rare to find saline materials that emerge with positive relief, as the ones we find in Pinoso.

Geological description

The Pinoso diapir is a rocky massif made from a core of halite, shales (layers of detritic materials of finer grains than sands), marl (shales with carbonate and / or plaster) and a plaster cover, often with crystals of large size corresponding to the alteration of gypsum and gypsum shales. It constitutes a positive relief, as a consequence of the rise of saline materials, a phenomenon that is called diapirism.

Thus, the materials we see today in Cerro de la Sal are the result of the transformation of the salt materials that were formed during the Triassic into small salt flats in the coastal plains. Only in the Cueva del Gigante and in some dolinas, notable folding structures can be observed in shaded rocks of shales and plaster.

TECHNICAL INFORMATION

MAP

- ▲ ISOM2017 standards
- ▲ Scale 1: 10 000 Equidistance 5 m
- ▲ Scale 1: 15 000 Equidistance 5 m

CARTOGRAPHY

Map makers Ruy Antunes and Joao Batista

The maps are located in the area of Pinoso.

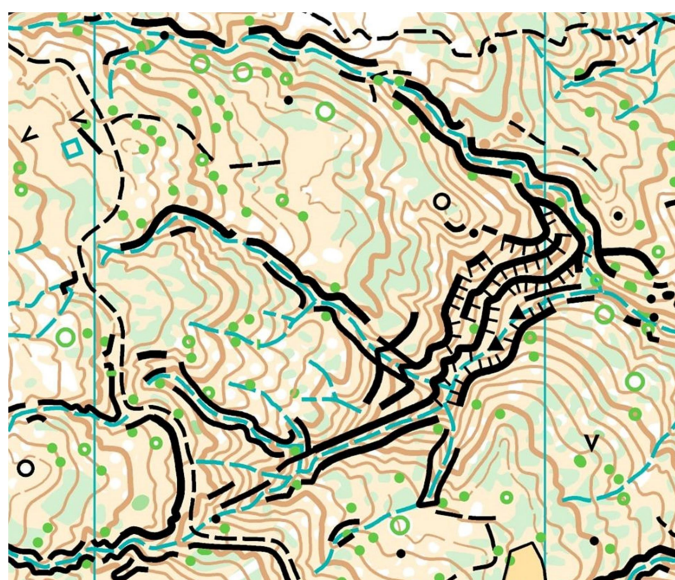

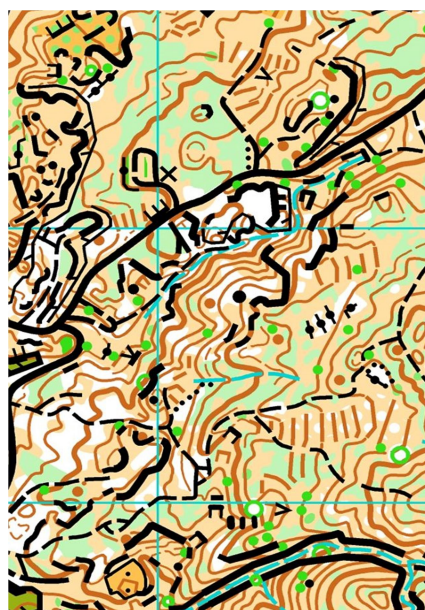

The choice of that location is due to the excellent characteristics of the terrain for orienteering.

TERRAIN

The entire Monte Cabezo is like a circle whose base is 650 m above sea level and the upper part of the TV antennas has an altitude of 892 m.

We must take into account, due to its characteristics, that we must take great care not to create deformation in the ground.

It is forbidden to pass through the cliffs that are drawn with the symbol 201 "Impassable cliff", even if they can be passed, WE WON'T PASS THEM, IT WILL BE FORBIDDEN BY THE ORGANIZATION, due to the deterioration that we can do by dropping by them. In addition, it can be dangerous for the participants.

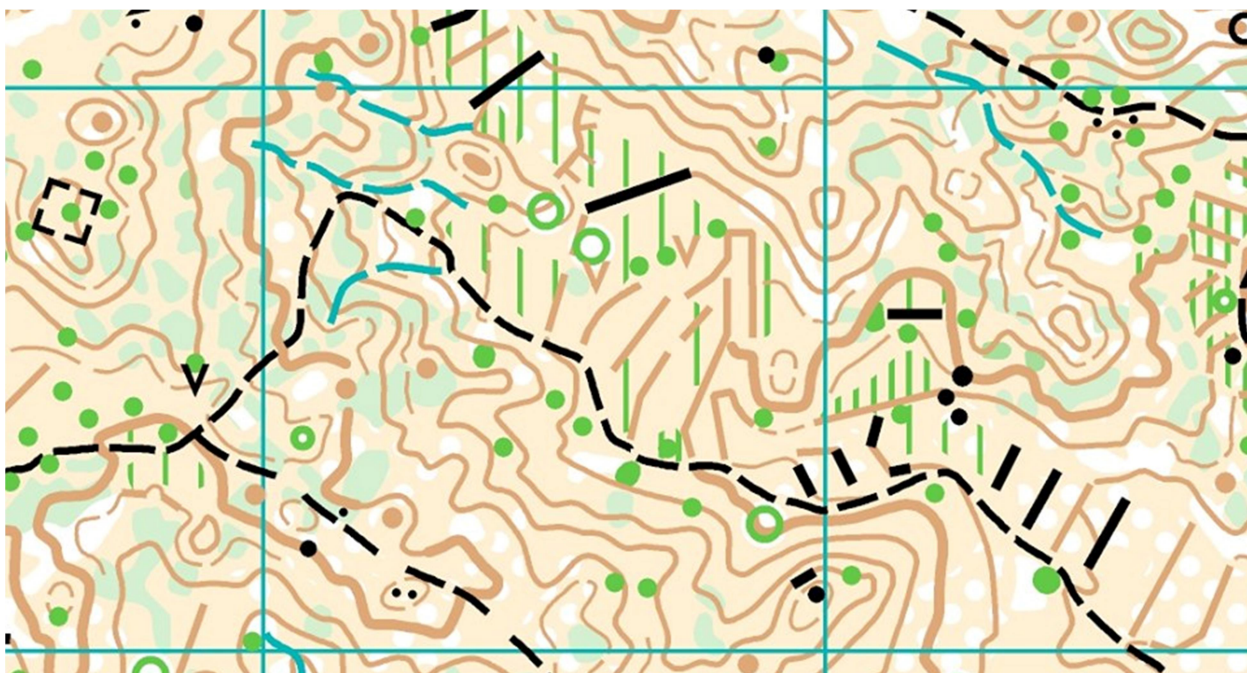

Almost all cliffs can be avoided by paths that cross them.

The map has large areas of micro relief, where accurate reading will be very important. Vegetation does not reduce running speed.

Orienteering maps will be printed on four scales, with the following characteristics:

- ☐ Four orienteering maps, at 1: 5000, 1: 7500, 1: 10,000 and 1: 15,000 scales.
- ☐ ISOM 2017 rules. Terrain: El Cabezo, Pinoso.
