FORMAT DESCRIPTION

The race begins with a qualification, which is a regular sprint from a separate start. The expected winner time is 12 minutes. Qualification is a world rankings competition. 16 men and 16 women are qualified for the finals. The finals are as follows: four quarter-final formations, two semi-final formations and one final. The participants will choose which quarter-final they want to go to. The selection of the composition of the quarter-finals is started by the winner of the qualifier and then selected according to the ranking of the qualifier. If a participant does not participate in the quarter-final membership elections, he or she shall be assigned to the remaining placements by a draw within the limits of the available places.
